

JACQUELINE WHEELOCK

CO-CHAIR OF GLOBAL STUDIES DEPARTMENT

---

Jackie Wheelock has been an important part of the Dalton faculty since 2019. As Co-Chair of the Global Studies Department, Jackie is not only passionate about offering the fundamental History courses but also giving students opportunities for hands-on, project-based learning in her Global Challenges and Conflicts course. Similarly, she encourages student-interest driven research and learning in her American History course. Jackie sees her role as a History and Social Science Teacher as an opportunity to arm students with the skills and experiences that social sciences are uniquely capable of introducing to students, which are: the ability to ask questions, develop arguments, and deal with complex, nuanced, and intractable dilemmas. As co-chair, Jackie looks to bring even more collaboration and creativity to the department and to give students more opportunities to explore their interests and passions.
